

Call for Papers

School of Economics and Resource Management (SERM) and Institute of Innovation and Development (CIID), Beijing Normal University are announcing the first “International Conference on Sustainable Development and Genuine Progress”.

The conference is scheduled on May 29-30, 2021 in Zhuhai, China. It is hosted by Center for Innovation and Development Studies, Beijing Normal University at Zhuhai.

The conference is a great opportunity to share ideas and research findings relevant to sustainable development and genuine progress. Internationally renowned scholars will be brought together to discuss the related issues.

Research articles on topics such as genuine progress, innovation and green development, carbon neutrality, sustainable resource management, poverty reduction, regional development, education for sustainable development and other related issues are welcome to submit. Submitted papers should be unpublished original research papers. Papers can be submitted in both English and Chinese. The submission deadline is April 30th 2021. Authors will be informed of acceptance decisions before May 8th 2021.

The conference will not charge conference fee. Students with accepted papers will be provided with free accommodation and a fixed allowance for travel expenses.

Please submit full papers to “cids_bnuzhuhai@126.com”, with subject title “Submission SDGP” and paper titles, names of (co)authors and the presenter in the text.

经济与资源管理研究院
School of Economics and Resource Management

创新发展研究院
China Institute of Innovation and Development

If you have any inquiries regarding the conference, please do not hesitate and contact Dr.

Zihan Nie at zihan.nie@bnu.edu.cn.

Important dates:

- Last day of submission: April 30, 2021
- Last date to issue Notification of Acceptance: May 8, 2021
- Conference dates: May 29 – May 30, 2021